FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

STEVEN L. SUGARMAN, ESQUIRE,
Member of the College of Community Association Lawyers

Berwyn, Pennsylvania, March 6, 2009 – Steven L. Sugarman, Esquire, founding principal of the law firm, Steven L. Sugarman & Associates, is a member of the College of Community Association Lawyers (CCAL)—one of just over 100 attorneys nationwide to be admitted to the prestigious organization. A member of the College is recognized as one of the best community association attorneys in the country.

CCAL was established in 1993 by Community Associations Institute (CAI), with membership consisting of attorneys who have distinguished themselves through contributions to the practice and evolution of community association law. CCAL members are also recognized for committing themselves to high standards of professional and ethical conduct in the practice of community association law.

Mr. Sugarman is the past President of the Pennsylvania/Delaware Valley Chapter of the Community Associations Institute and chaired CAI's Legislative Action Committee for several years. Mr. Sugarman has been in the forefront in developing statutory and decisional law in the community association arena and lectures regularly for attorneys and other professionals at the local, state and national levels on real estate and community association matters. A graduate of Cornell University and the Temple University School of Law, Mr. Sugarman continues to be recognized by his peers as a Pennsylvania "Super Lawyer."

CCAL provides a forum for the exchange of information among experienced legal professionals working for the advancement of community association governance. Its goals include promoting high standards of professional and ethical responsibility, improving and advancing community association law and practice, and facilitating the development of educational materials and programming pertaining to legal issues.

CAI is a national membership organization dedicated to helping homeowner and condominium associations meet the expectations of their residents. The organization accomplishes this mission by providing information, tools and resources to homeowners and professionals who govern and manage common-interest communities. By helping its members learn, excel and achieve, CAI strengthens the governance and management of community associations throughout the country, making them better places to live.

More than 60 million Americans live in close to 300,000 homeowner and condominium associations, cooperatives and other planned communities.
